

FOUR (4+)

It starts in the dark, underground. Cold, bare and silent. Come on, hurry up, we want to get started. We are about to burst. We want to grow, prosper, live, give, dream and eventually return home exhausted. And then again. And again. And...

Three performers travel through the seasons. From the subterranean silence in winter to the miracle of new life in spring; from summer freedom and infatuation to autumnal romance and nostalgia. Out of the music, movements and a decor that changes time and again, a wonderful story grows about friendship and change, saying goodbye and returning. FOUR celebrates the seasons, especially for very young people.

FOUR (4+) is available for the small- and middle theater. Get in contact for more information.

"Together with the performers, we look at which emotions are released when a change is made. What do we hold on to and what do we prefer to leave behind? We make a musical journey through the seasons. We will explore and wake up in the spring and collapse and scramble up again at the sight of falling leaves in the fall. No matter how the wind blows, the performers pull each other through it."
